AHW Announces New Website & Web Address

We are excited to share the new online home of the Advancing a Healthier Wisconsin Endowment. You'll now find us at AHWendowment.org!

Along with a new web address, we've also spruced up the place, developing a more streamlined navigation, more functional pages for funding opportunities and application resources, and a better platform to highlight AHW announcements. Take a quick tour of the site at the link below, and be sure to drop in and visit when you have a chance.

We'll be continuing to update our new online home over the coming months to better share news, resources, and the stories of our partners and projects statewide.

Share Your AHW Story

Advancing research. Educating future health leaders. Helping partners create real change in communities statewide. Together, we're building a healthier Wisconsin for generations to come.

How have you partnered with AHW?

Conversations with Scientists Returns in October

Mark your calendars for the return of our free, public learning series. We're partnering with the MCW Center for Immunology to explore the immune system and how it interacts with the world around us (and in us)! Tuesdays, Oct. 16, 23, and 30 from 6:30 - 8:30 pm.

Registration opens in September.
